The Coffin of Heqata-Harco Willems 1996
The coffin published in this book represents a type that had some popularity in southern Upper Egypt in the early Middle Kingdom, but which, despite its extraordinary decoration had not attracted attention so far. The most striking feature of the decoration is that the object friezes - the pictorial rendering of ritual implements usually found on coffin interiors of the period - also include complete ritual scenes, some of which are attested only here. Apart from this, the decoration includes an extensive selection of the religious texts know as the Coffin Texts. The author first studies the archaeological context and dating of the coffin and attempts a reconstruction of the construction procedures from his technical description of the monument. The detailed account of the decoration in the rest of the book interprets the ritual iconography and offers fresh translations and interpretations of the Coffin Texts. A methodological innovation is that he regards the scenes and texts not as individual decoration elements, but as components of an integral composition. The background of this composition is argued to be a view of life in the hereafter in which the deceased is involved in an unending cycle of ritual action which reflects the funerary rituals that were actually performed on earth. On the one hand, these netherworldly rituals aim at bringing the deceased to new life by mummification, on the other the newly regenerated deceased partakes in embalming rituals for gods representing his dead father (Osiris or Atum). These gods, in their turn, effectuate the deceased's regeneration. The entire process results in a cycle of resuscitation in which the afterlife of the deceased and of the 'father gods' are interdependent. The sociological bias of this interpretation, with its emphasis on kinship relations, differs significantly from earlier attempts to explain Egyptian funerary religion.

Personal, Indoor and Mobile Radio Communications-
In the lives of ordinary people are the truths of history. Such truths abound in the diaries of Jacob Epp, a Russian Mennonite school-teacher, lay minister, farmer, and village secretary in southern Ukraine. This abridged translation of his diaries offers a remarkably vivid picture of Mennonite community life in Imperial Russia during a period of troubled change. Epp’s writings reveal a skilled and honest diarist of deep feelings, and tell a human story that no conventional historical account could hope to equal. The diaries overflow with the details of his workaday world. Family, village, church, and community routines are broken by trips to market, visits to other Mennonite settlements, and a memorable steamer voyage to boomtown Odessa on the Black Sea. He chronicles his long-time involvement in an unusual Imperial experiment in which Mennonites were “model farmers” in Jewish villages. Harvey L. Dyck places the diaries in their historical, ethnocultural, social, religious, economic, and political settings. Based on archival research, interviews, travels, and consultations with other scholars, his detailed and perceptive introduction and analysis trace Jacob Epp’s life and present a sketch and interpretation of his larger family, community, and Imperial world. With striking clarity the diaries and introduction together re-create a time and way of life marked by controversy and flux. They reflect significant facets of the experience of ethno-religious minorities in Imperial Russia and of the development of the southern Ukrainian frontier. Above all, they fill significant missing pages of the great community-centred story of Russian Mennonite life. This book is richly illustrated with maps, black-and-white photographs, and watercolour paintings by Cornelius Hildebrand, Jacob Epp’s former village school pupil and later brother-in-law.

Egyptian Administrative and Private-name Seals, Principally of the Middle Kingdom and Second Intermediate Period-Geoffrey Thorndike Martin 1971
Including many seals published here for the first time, this catalogue is as near as possible a complete catalogue of Egyptian seals, mostly of the Middle Kingdom and Second Intermediate Period, as known in 1971. The seals fall into two main divisions: private-name seals, mostly carved into the form of the sacred scarab beetle, and stamp-seals of government departments and military forts, usually bearing the name of the office concerned. Each catalogue entry lists the reading, a classification of type, and relevant bibliographic references. Several hundred of the most important designs are illustrated in clear hand-drawn plates.

Ondřej jde do školy-Weston Carrie 2014-11-03 Jednoho dne řekla paní učitelka třídy, že se k nim přidá nový
žák. Všichni se tolik těšili! Nikdo ale netušil, že novým žákem bude medvěd grizzly! A tak když přišel do třídy stydlivý Ondřej, všichni ostatní žáci - zaječka Lenka, lišák Filip, krtek Max a tři malí myšáci - vykřikli leknutím. Ale Ondřej si vůbec nepřipadal děsivý a strašlivý. Jeho první školní den nestál za nic a oni si přitom jen přál najít nové kamarády. Podaří se Ondřejovi získat srdce ostatních? V druhé kapitole Ondřejových příběhů si přečtete o tom, jak medvěd a jeho spolužáci vyrazili na školní výlet, stavěli týpí, sbírali borůvky a zažili velké nepříjemnosti s vlčaty. Ještě že byl s nimi Ondřej, který se pokusil vše vyřešit...
